A note from the director:

When we are young, our imaginations can run wild, and sadly somewhere along the way we stop playing pretend. Still Life With Iris transports us to a world of whimsy; a land that makes what we see in the day during the night. This show features wild and exciting characters that can remind us how fun it can be to suspend our disbelief for a moment.

Watching Still Life With Iris is one of my first memories in the theatre. As a little girl, I watched my dad on stage as Mr.Maternot. Now, with a daughter of my own, I felt that it was a special time to share this story with my students. They have truly embraced this story and these characters to create a beautiful show.

I invite you to join us in suspending your disbelief and using your imagination as we venture into the world of Nocturno.
